

COOKIES POLICY

1. The service does not collect automatically any information, with the exclusion of information contained in cookies.
2. Cookies constitute IT data, in particular text files, that is stored in the terminal device of the Service User and that is designated for using the Internet websites of the Service. Cookies usually contain the name of the website that they originate from, the time of their storage in the terminal device and a unique number.
3. The entity inserting cookies in the terminal device of the Service User and obtaining access thereto is the Service operator – Biogen Poland Sp. z o.o. with registered office at the address: ul. Poleczki 35, 02-822 Warszawa.
4. Cookies are used for:
 - a) adjustment of the contents of websites of the Service to the User's preferences and optimisation of the use of websites; in particular, these files allow for identification of the device of the Service User and for proper display of the website, adjusted to his/her individual needs;
 - b) creation of statistics that help to understand how the Service Users use websites which allows for improvement of the structure and contents thereof;
 - c) maintenance of the session of the Service User (after logging in), thanks to which the User does not have to re-enter his/her login and password on each sub-site of the Service.
5. Within the Service, two basic types of cookies files are used: session cookies and persistent cookies. Session cookies are temporary files that are stored in the terminal device of the User by the time of logging out, leaving the website or switching off the software (the Internet browser). Persistent cookies are stored in the terminal device of the User for the time specified in the parameters of cookies files or by the time of their deletion by the User.
6. The following types of cookies are used within the Service:
 - a) strictly necessary cookies, allowing for using the services available within the Service, e.g. authenticating cookies used for services requiring authentication within the Service;
 - b) cookies used for ensuring safety, e.g. used for detection of abuses in the scope of

- authentication within the Service;
 - c) performance cookies, allowing for collection of information on the way of using websites of the Service;
 - d) functional cookies, allowing for ‘remembering’ the settings selected by the User and personalisation of User interface e.g. in the scope of the selected language or region that the User comes from, font size, appearance of the website, etc.
 - e) advertising cookies, allowing to deliver advertising contents to the Users that are more adjusted to their interests.
7. In a lot of cases, the software used for browsing websites (the Internet browser) by default allows for storing cookies in the terminal device of the User. The Service Users may at any time change their settings relating to cookies. These settings may be in particular changed in such a way that they block automatic handling of cookies in the settings of the Internet browser or inform on their each-time insertion in the device of the Service User. Detailed information on possibility and methods of handling cookies is available in settings of the software (the Internet browser).
 8. The Service Operator informs that restrictions in the use of cookies may affect some functions available on websites of the Service.
 9. Cookies inserted in the terminal device of the Service User may be also used by the advertisers and partners cooperating with the Service Operator.
 10. More information on cookies is available at the address: www.mamsm.pl or in section ‘Help’ in menu of the Internet browser.